-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 17 October 2000.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,295,139 A to Palmer.

As to claim 1, figure 3 of Palmer shows a network element feature (e.g., path, circuit, channel) as a logical entity (i.e., logical objects), see e.g., column 7, lines 4-14.

One or more characteristics associated with a network element, the characteristic related to functional attributes of the network elements, are shown as associated attributes of the object class, see e.g., column 7, lines 47-60. Instances of a certain object class have specific attributes and thus make up a “profile”. For example, an instance of the Bridge object class (see column 7, lines 54-60) would have specific attributes relating to bridge type, bridge ID, service state, and alarm state making up a profile. Thus two instances of the same (logical) “entity” can be represented by different profiles.

As to claim 2, see e.g., column 4, lines 37-54 with respect to SONET.

As to claim 3, see e.g., column 9, lines 17-23 with respect to a hardware object class. Also see figure 3 with respect to network interface devices and transmission links.

As to claim 4, see e.g., column 8, lines 11-14 with respect to channel.

As to claim 5, each instance is a profile, see the rejection to claim 1.

Art Unit: 2663

As to claim 6, alarm levels are defined as “alarm state”, see e.g., column 7, line 60. Also see column 13, lines 25-37 with respect to failures.

As to claim 7, the “alarm state” is a type of alarm.

As to claim 8, examiner notes a broad but reasonable interpretation of “performance characteristics”. As such, see e.g., a service state at column 7, lines 59-60. Also note column 8, line 16-18 with respect to type of information.

As to claim 9, such information can be used to generate status reports, see e.g., column 13, lines 45-55.

As to claim 10, see e.g., column 7, lines 25-31 with respect to “multiple ownership” and attributes that include “owners”.

As to claim 11, see similar rejection to claim 1.

As to claim 12, see similar rejection to claim 2.

As to claim 13, see similar rejection to claim 3.

As to claim 14, see similar rejection to claim 4.

As to claim 15, see similar rejection to claim 5.

As to claim 16, see similar rejection to claim 6.

As to claim 17, see similar rejection to claim 7.

As to claim 18, see similar rejection to claim 8.

As to claim 19, see similar rejection to claim 9.

As to claim 20, see similar rejection to claim 10.
